NEXT'S SERVICE

- The NEXT Group is in charge of not only import / export but also distribution of Japanese ingredients, which are generally considered as a challenge with other corporations.

- Basically, there are many restricted laws and conditions when import and export foods, especially with a high level of country as Japan. Especially, the fresh foods requires particularly difficult transportation technology. This means, mostly every fresh food need be stored in different temperature and transport conditions. For example, in quarantine, the most significant feature are indispensable for temperature control, humidity control.

- Despite the difficulties, NEXT corporations with our professional team on importing and exporting fresh food, we provide guidance and advices on production control in both our own country and other countries, which will deliver good to your company.
